CURRICULAR ASPECTS

1.1 - Curricular Planning and Implementation

1.1.1 - The Institution ensures effective curriculum delivery through a well planned and documented process

GGSSIP University in Delhi collaborates with its affiliated institutions to create a well-rounded curriculum that meets the needs of its students. The curriculum is then used by the institute to develop a detailed plan of action and academic calendar to ensure that programs are delivered effectively. The subject allocation is carefully considered, and course manuals are created for each topic. These manuals include course objectives, lesson plans, and resources such as assignments, model test papers, question banks, handouts, and case studies. The time table coordinator creates the master schedule to ensure optimal credit delivery. Each faculty member submits a report on curriculum delivery to verify that objectives are being met according to the timetable.

Teaching pedagogy is student-centric and includes case studies, role-plays, group debates, presentations, and e-content. The institute's YouTube channel contains e-lectures filmed by faculty members, which can be used for flipped classroom methodology to increase student engagement.

The institution provides various opportunities for students to demonstrate their abilities, including webinars, expert talks, seminars, industry trips, symposiums, and contests. Value-added and MOOC courses are also available to improve employability skills and bridge the gap between academia and industry. Academic achievement is assessed through assignments, quizzes, and midterm exams.

The institute has a transparent mechanism to address examination related grievances. Most of the grievances during the examination are redressed at the invigilator level itself. If any grievance arises during or after the examination, and it remains unsolved in the first stage, the student or faculty concerned can brought it to the notice of controller of examination and the issues are redressed then and there. The members of examination committee handle the grievances related to examinations. If the student or faculty is not satisfied with the action taken by examination committee on the reported grievance then the matter is addressed to the director of the institute who refers the case to the concerned committee of the institute. Thus, the Grievance Redressal system is centered on the wellbeing of students. The other grievances handled by the examination committee are related conduct of external exam, evaluation and the University Results.

6.5 - Internal Quality Assurance System

6.5.1 - Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) has contributed significantly for institutionalizing the quality assurance strategies and processes

Seamless mentoring of students by faculty mentors and student counselor: The objective of formalizing the student mentoring project was to ensure that each and every student could refer back to a faculty mentor for overall guidance in relation to his professional and psychological needs. In view of the fact that these were very stressful years, there were a number of instances where students were in need of such guidance from their faculty mentors and student counselor. For the purpose of achieving this objective, a specific number of students were allocated to each faculty mentor and students on weekly basis could approach their mentor for guidance and counseling. The faculty mentors were asked to keep a record of the problems discussed by the students & advice offered by the faculty mentor which was asked to submit on the monthly basis to HODs for review

6.5.2 - The institution reviews its teaching learning process, structures & methodologies of operations and learning outcomes at periodic intervals through IQAC set up as per norms and recorded the incremental improvement in various activities

The sudden outbreak of the Covid'19 pandemic threatened to rock the boat of the face-to-face classroom teaching process. As the IQAC anticipated that the pandemic was going to be a long drawn process, it decided to make suitable changes to ensure that there was no disruption in the curriculum delivery process without compromising on academic quality standards. To this end, the IQAC decided to migrate to the online platform of Zoom to continue the teaching-learning process uninterrupted in the online mode. However, there was a challenge. Most of the teachers were unfamiliar with this mode of curriculum delivery. To overcome this challenge, the IQAC organized workshops to train the teachers in the use of online platforms for curriculum delivery of different subjects. The implementation of this quality initiative was done under the close supervision of the respective heads of the departments. Feedback was also taken from the students to plug the gaps wherever found in the online curriculum delivery process. Based on this, the institute launched a programme of Educational video production using the standardized PPT formats and their hosting on the Institute YouTube channel, particularly for those students who might miss a class because of sickness in the family.

7.1.3 - Describe the facilities in the Institution for the management of the following types of degradable and non-degradable waste (within 200 words) Solid waste management Liquid waste management Biomedical waste management E-waste management Waste recycling system Hazardous chemicals and radioactive waste management

Solid waste management is a critical aspect of sustainable development, and the Institute has taken measures to manage the waste generated on the campus. The campus has blue and green covered dustbins to collect the waste. Segregation of wet and dry waste is practiced within the campus, and the vendor who has been given the contract of waste disposal manages this process.

To manage the wet waste generated in the canteen, the Institute has initiated the process of installing a composting unit of 20 kg capacity. Two trust bins of 10kg each are used to convert the wet waste into manure, which is later used in plants. To avoid paper wastage, the Institute uses both sides of the paper for printing and photocopying. The Institute also practices e-waste management by collecting and storing old and discarded computer monitors etc., before selling them to an authorized vendor for recycling and disposal.

Waste water management is also a significant concern, with wastewater generated from various activities such as washing, cleaning, toilet flushing, and canteen kitchens. The rain water is sourced to the underground pit, RO waste water is reused in toilets and sanitary waste is sent to the municipal sewer line.
